

Church Wall Update

Matters have progressed well since the last update was published on 1st May.

At the beginning of July, We received the Approved Plans from the Structural Engineer for the re-build. As soon as they were received, Richard Deane, who is acting as our clerk of works, arranged with our chosen contractor Mark Hedges to start work with a minimum of delay.

Mark Hedges started on the 12th July and has made substantial progress. The wall itself has been built – but there still remains a considerable amount of pointing which is quite a time consuming process.

Progress is dependent on weather and other variables but we are hoping to get the job completed and the site cleared by the 18th August.
